

Growth and diversification

A wider range of value-added services are planned at the Random House Distribution

11 April 2008

Random House Distribution (RHD) is planning to unveil details of new services at this year's London Book Fair, including 'white label' client website fulfilment (in partnership with Chameleon), digital archiving (in partnership with Virtusales), digital asset distribution and the 'widget', and a range of value-added procurement services.

RHD is also environmentally responsible - the TBS Frating site hosts a variety of wildlife, and its roof and surface areas drain into a pond which doubles as a reservoir for the sprinklers. All sites are currently fitting energy-efficient lighting and measuring their carbon footprints.
